Romance Scammers' Favorite Lies Exposed

Romance scammers tell all sorts of lies to steal your heart and money...

Reports show romance scammers often use dating apps to target people looking for love. But reports of romance scams that start with unexpected private messages on social media platforms are even more common. In fact, 40% of people who said they lost money to a romance scam last year said the contact started on social media; 19% said it started on a website or app. Many people reported that the scammer then quickly moved the sweet talk to WhatsApp, Google Chat, or Telegram.

Romance Scammers: Their Favorite Lies by the Numbers

Last year's romance scam numbers looked a lot like 2021 all over again, and it's not a pretty picture. In 2022, nearly 70,000 people reported a romance scam, and reported losses hit a staggering $1.3 billion.

Avoid These Common Document Management Mistakes

When it comes to document management, there are a lot of things to consider. From physical space to employee access, there are many potential pitfalls. In this post, we'll discuss some common mistakes organizations make with document management, and how to avoid them.

One of the most important parts of records management is having a document retention policy. This policy will dictate how long you keep your records and how you dispose of them. Without a policy in place, you could end up keeping records you don't need and dispose of ones you do. Make sure your company has a solid records retention policy in place and that everyone in your organization is following it.

This article covers these topics and more:

Not having a records retention schedule and policy

Lack of proper indexing and organization

Failing to store archival records offsite

Not backing up documents/Not digitizing documents

In-house records management
